Financial Policy

The staff at Lori Ben-Ezra and Associates Psychological Services, LLC is committed to providing care and professional mental health care to all our clients. As part of the delivery of mental health services, we have established a financial policy which provides payment policies and options to all consumers. The financial policy of this group is designed to clarify the payment policies.

Insurance deductibles and co-payments are due at the time of service. For psychological evaluations, the amount equal to half the fee is collected at the time of testing and the balance is due when the report is completed and reviewed. Payment methods include check, cash or any major credit card.

Missed appointments or cancellations less than 24 hours prior to the appointment are charged a fee of $50.

Questions regarding the financial policy can be answered by your therapist.

In signing below, I assert that I have read, understand and agree with the provisions of the Financial Policy.
